MIAX PEARL, LLC
LETTER OF CONSENT
NO. 20180580170-15

TO: MIAX PEARL, LLC
c/o Department of Enforcement
Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”)

RE: Global Execution Brokers, LP, Respondent
Broker-Dealer
CRD No. 126407

Pursuant to Rule 1003 of the Rules of MIAX PEARL, LLC (“MIAX PEARL”), Global Execution Brokers, LP (“GEB” or the “firm”) submits this Letter of Consent (“LOC”) for the purpose of proposing a settlement of the alleged rule violations described below. This LOC is submitted on the condition that, if accepted, MIAX PEARL will not bring any future actions against the firm alleging violations based on the same factual findings described herein.

I.

ACCEPTANCE AND CONSENT

- A. The firm hereby accepts and consents, without admitting or denying the findings, and solely for the purposes of this proceeding and any other proceeding brought by or on behalf of MIAX PEARL, or to which MIAX PEARL is a party, prior to a hearing and without an adjudication of any issue of law or fact, to the entry of the following findings by MIAX PEARL:

BACKGROUND

1. GEB has been a member of MIAX PEARL since February 2017. GEB is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) located in Bala Cynwyd, Pennsylvania. The firm has 28 registered representatives and no branches. GEB operates solely as an agency broker for other broker-dealers. The firm has no relevant disciplinary history.

SUMMARY

2. This matter arose from an investigation conducted by FINRA relating to GEB’s execution of an options order on March 21, 2018. The investigation found that from March 2018 through November 2021 (the “Relevant Period”), GEB violated Rule 15c3-5 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 by failing to establish, document, and maintain a system of risk management controls reasonably designed to prevent the entry of erroneous orders. During the same period, GEB violated MIAX PEARL Rules 300, 301, and 500 by failing to establish and maintain a system of supervisory controls, including written procedures, reasonably designed to achieve compliance with (1) Exchange Act Rule 15c3-5 and (2) MIAX PEARL rules relating to the post-trade review of potentially erroneous orders.

FACTS AND VIOLATIVE CONDUCT

Applicable Rules

3. Exchange Act Rule 15c3-5(b) requires a broker-dealer with market access to “establish, document, and maintain a system of risk management controls and supervisory procedures reasonably designed to manage the financial, regulatory, and other risks of this business activity.”<sup>1</sup>
4. Exchange Act Rule 15c3-5(c)(1)(ii) specifically requires that a broker-dealer’s system of risk management controls and supervisory procedures must be reasonably designed to “[p]revent the entry of erroneous orders, by rejecting orders that exceed appropriate price or size parameters, on an order-by-order basis or over a short period of time, or that indicate duplicative orders.” In the Rule’s adopting release, the SEC provided as an example of a reasonable control: “a system-driven, pre-trade control designed to reject orders that are not reasonably related to the quoted price of the security.”<sup>2</sup>
5. Chapter III of MIAX PEARL Rules incorporates by reference Rule 300 of the Rules of the Miami International Securities Exchange, LLC (“MIAX”). MIAX Rule 300 prohibits members from “engag[ing] in conduct in violation of the Exchange Act, the By-Laws or the Rules of the Exchange, or the Rules of the Clearing Corporation insofar as they relate to the reporting or clearance of any Exchange Transaction, or any written interpretation thereof. Every Member shall so supervise persons associated with the Member as to assure compliance therewith.”
6. Chapter III of MIAX PEARL Rules incorporate by reference MIAX Rule 301, which provides that “[n]o Member shall engage in acts or practices inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade.”
7. MIAX PEARL Rule 500(b) prohibits members from “engag[ing] in conduct (1) inconsistent with the maintenance of a fair and orderly market; (2) apt to impair public confidence in the operations of [MIAX PEARL]; or (3) inconsistent with the ordinary and efficient conduct of business. Activities that may violate [MIAX PEARL Rule 500(b)] include, but are not limited to, . . . failure of a Member to supervise a person employed by or associated with such Member adequately to ensure that person’s compliance with this paragraph (b).”

<sup>1</sup> GEB is subject to Exchange Act Rule 15c3-5 because it is a broker with market access to MIAX PEARL as well as other option exchanges. The Rule defines market access as “[a]ccess to trading in securities on an exchange or alternative trading system as a result of being a member or subscriber of the exchange or alternative trading system, respectively.”

<sup>2</sup> Risk Management Controls for Brokers or Dealers with Market Access, SEC Release No. 34-63241, at 11 (November 3, 2010).

Facts

8. On March 21, 2018, at 3:58:27 p.m., GEB received a market order to purchase 5,000 call option contracts in ABC<sup>3</sup> (the “Order”) on behalf of one of its broker-dealer clients.
9. The Order did not breach the pre-order entry market access risk controls that the firm had in place for its broker-dealer client in March 2018. The Order, however, was automatically routed to an options exchange, whereupon it received multiple partial executions at increasing price levels until the exchange rejected back to GEB the unfilled balance, which was then automatically routed to another exchange. The next exchange likewise executed the Order at increasing price levels until it likewise rejected back to GEB the unfilled balance. The Order was again automatically routed to another exchange, and this partial execution and rejection process continued across multiple exchanges until one exchange posted the unfilled balance as a bid, which was executed at 3:59:49 p.m., thereby completing the order. This automated activity resulted in an aggregate of nearly 500 transactions (collectively, the “Trade”) and an overall price increase of roughly 312%—from the first execution price of $12.39 to $38.70. The Trade was executed across 15 option exchanges, including MIAX PEARL.
10. At 3:59 p.m. and 4:00 p.m., GEB’s systems generated “Possible Bad Fill” emails alerting the GEB client service desk to potential execution quality issues for the Trade. This alert is generated when, among other things, partial executions of a market order are effected at prices that are a designated margin away from the quoted market at the time the order was received.
11. Although the balance of the Order was rejected by multiple exchanges following their respective partial executions, the Firm’s order management system did not maintain a control recognizing this fact and kept re-entering the Order until it was completely filled.
12. At around 4:13 p.m., GEB’s broker-dealer client advised GEB’s client service desk that the customer had mistakenly placed the Order and that “[h]e is looking to see if he can get any help out of it at all.”
13. At that time, the relevant exchanges, including MIAX PEARL, permitted broker-dealers to request one of two types of relief in response to an erroneous order—a broker-dealer could request review of the trade as an “Obvious Error” or “Catastrophic Error.” If the exchanges deemed a transaction an Obvious Error, then the trade could be busted. Alternatively, if the exchanges deemed a transaction a

<sup>3</sup> A generic identifier has been used in place of the name of the relevant option series.

Catastrophic Error, the relief was an adjustment of the execution price (and not a bust of the trade).<sup>4</sup>

14. The relevant exchanges, including MIAX PEARL, required that requests for Obvious Error review be submitted within 30 minutes of the trade's execution. The deadline for a Catastrophic Error review was longer—here, GEB had until 8:30 a.m. on the following trading day to request such a review.
15. Only one member of GEB's client service desk remained after 4:00 p.m. on March 21, 2018, as all others left the office due to a severe snowstorm. At or around the time that GEB's broker-dealer client alerted GEB to the potentially erroneous trade, GEB's client service desk representative was aware that one of the counterparties to the Trade was a GEB affiliate.
16. GEB's client service representative had until around 4:29 p.m. to request Obvious Error reviews of the Trade.
17. At that time, and throughout the Relevant Period, GEB had no formal training, procedures, or other guidance regarding how to handle an erroneous order review when a GEB affiliate was a counterparty to such transaction, or any written supervisory procedure to review for the proper handling of potentially erroneous transactions.
18. On March 21, 2018, with the 30-minute deadline approaching, the GEB representative did not attempt to contact his supervisor for assistance. Instead, he sought guidance from an on-site risk manager who worked for the affiliate.
19. Ultimately, GEB did not submit the Trade for review as an Obvious Error within the 30-minute deadline. At around 4:49 p.m., GEB began filing Catastrophic Error review requests with the relevant exchanges.<sup>5</sup>
20. In response to GEB's Catastrophic Error submission, the relevant exchanges adjusted the execution prices on 3,864 contracts of the Trade to a price of $21.85.<sup>6</sup>

Violations of Exchange Act Rule 15c3-5 and MIAX PEARL Rules 300, 301, and 500(b)

21. During the Relevant Period, GEB did not establish, document, and maintain a system of risk management controls and supervisory procedures reasonably designed to prevent the entry of erroneous orders. As set forth above, by allowing the Order to be

<sup>4</sup> A transaction determined to be a Catastrophic Error could be busted if the adjusted execution price was higher (for buy transactions) or lower (for sell transactions) than the customer's limit price.

<sup>5</sup> Among the circumstances involved were that the Trade involved a significant number of individual transactions (almost 500 executions across 15 options exchanges) and the reduction of human resources due to a severe snowstorm that left only one client service desk representative available to review the Trade and assess whether the transactions qualified for erroneous order relief.

<sup>6</sup> GEB subsequently contributed to a settlement between its broker-dealer client and the retail customer relating to the Trade.

re-submitted a number of times after being rejected by multiple exchanges, the firm's market access controls were not reasonably designed to prevent the entry of erroneous options market orders.

22. As a result, GEB violated Exchange Act Rules 15c3-5(b) and 15c3-5(c)(1)(ii) and MIAX PEARL Rules 300, 301, and 500(b).
23. During the Relevant Period, GEB also failed to establish, maintain, enforce, and keep current a system of supervisory controls reasonably designed to supervise the firm's client service desk and the process for reviewing potentially erroneous transactions. As set forth above, GEB did not have formal training, procedures, or other guidance regarding how to handle an erroneous order review when a GEB affiliate was a counterparty to such transaction, or any written supervisory procedure to review for the proper handling of potentially erroneous transactions.
24. As a result, GEB violated MIAX PEARL Rules 300, 301, and 500(b).

B. The firm also consents to the imposition of the following sanctions:

1. Censure;
2. A total fine in the amount of $150,000 ($10,000 payable to MIAX PEARL);<sup>7</sup> and
3. An undertaking requiring that within 60 days of the execution of this LOC, GEB will provide a certification that it has developed and implemented controls and procedures reasonably designed to address the deficiencies described above.

The firm agrees to pay the monetary sanction upon notice that this LOC has been accepted and that such payment is due and payable. It has submitted an Election of Payment form showing the method by which it proposes to pay the fine imposed.

The firm specifically and voluntarily waives any right to claim that it is unable to pay, now or at any time hereafter, the monetary sanction imposed in this matter.

The sanctions imposed herein shall be effective on a date set by MIAX PEARL.

II.

The undersigned, on behalf of the firm, certifies that a person duly authorized to act on its behalf has read and understands all of the provisions of this LOC and has been given a full opportunity to ask questions about it; that it has agreed to the LOC’s provisions voluntarily; and that no offer, threat, inducement, or promise of any kind, other than the terms set forth herein and the prospect of avoiding the issuance of a Complaint, has been made to induce the firm to submit it.
